SÜDA expands the range of foot care chairs with a new generation

Karlsruhe 09.04.2021: SÜDA offers a wide portfolio of different foot care chairs, which are adjusted to the treatment requirements of chiropodists and podiatrists. With the SÜDA Move C1, the brand has developed a new generation of treatment chairs. The SÜDA Move C1 can be used within the smallest possible space and still offers comfort and treatment ergonomics.

With a new, timeless aesthetic design and an innovative modern operating concept, the SÜDA Move C1 marks the start of a new generation of foot care chairs. An important component of the treatment chair is the modern and technically high-quality lifting column. This allows vertical height adjustment, making the chair particularly suitable for small rooms. It also allows a sufficient working height for treatments in standing position and thus offers the chiropodists and podiatrists enough flexibility in their work.

Users have the option to rotate the pedicure chair 340° (with locking brake) and adjust it as desired. Thus, the slim foot rest and the numerous adjustment options make it possible to work undisturbed and close to the customer. With the SÜDA Move C1, chiropodists and podiatrists offer their customers a pleasant and comfortable sitting experience. An infinitely extendable headrest enhances the feeling of comfort and adapts the foot care chair to any body size.

Getting in and out of the chair, which is often difficult for elderly patients, is made easier by a low entry height, negative seat angle and fold-away armrests. Another advantage of the podiatry chair is the durable and easy-to-clean Classic Contour upholstery, which is practically suitable for heavy continuous use.

"It is important to us, that the activities of chiropodists and podiatrists are facilitated by the SÜDA Move C1 and that they can adjust it individually to their work. In addition, the comfort should still remain and also offer an advantage to the patients. This is what our SÜDA Move C1 promises and thus fulfills all requirements for contemporary foot care treatment." - Julian La Fontaine, Managing Director IONTO Health & Beauty GmbH.
